Additional fees or expenses for students

This Appendix lists all courses or units which require payment of additional fees or expenses to the university. These fees were correct at the time of production of this handbook. However, students are advised to contact the appropriate faculty, school or department for confirmation. The fees listed in the Student Expenses register are subject to change and are currently under further investigation by the Charges and Levies project group. Some fees and charges may be reduced or withdrawn following the investigation. Any student who feels that a charge or levy is non-compliant with the DETYA legislation should contact the Student Guild on (08) 9266 0000 or the University Fee Centre on (08) 9266 3500. All costs are in Australian dollars ($AUS) unless indicated otherwise.

2003 Special Document and Late Processing Fees

[inclusive of GST]

In accordance with advice from the Department of Education, Science and Training (DEST), Curtin has adopted a policy statement which provides for the University to levy charges for ancillary goods or services and to levy charges as fines or penalties. It is a requirement of the Higher Education Funding Act section 18(1)(d) that universities do not charge students fees except as provided under section 13, which defines 'fees' and in paragraphs (a) to (e) lists charges excluded from the definition. The charges and levies authorised by this policy are either outside the definition of 'fees' provided in the Act or are long-standing fees levied by the University. The University is frequently requested to produce special documents for students and the community. For governance reasons these activities are managed centrally in Student Services. Late processing fees are used as an incentive for students to meet University deadlines. The discretionary waiving of these fees, when students have demonstrated that circumstances outside their control have affected their ability to meet the deadline, rests with the Director Student Services. In the event that late applications for admission, enrolment, re-enrolment and re-instatement of cancelled enrolments are accepted, late fees may be applied. The existence of these fees does not mean that the late applications will be accepted, however, if the University decides to accept any late applications, then applicants may be subject to the fees.
